COPYRIGHT LICENCE AGREEMENT

1. I, ...…….....
of.....…….....(hereinafter referred to as 'the Author'), hereby consent to the publication of the following article/item entitled, ……
(hereinafter referred to as 'the Contribution') with such editorial changes as may be agreed in Law and Financial Markets Review (hereinafter referred to as 'the Journal') and grant Hart Publishing (hereinafter referred to as 'the Publisher'), an exclusive licence to produce, publish and distribute the Contribution during the legal term of copyright (including any renewals and extensions of the copyright period), whether for reward or otherwise, in the Journal, in any compilation of articles drawn from the Journal or any other Hart Publishing journals, and any website, including but not limited to the Social Science Research Network, Ingenta Connect and any similar organisations, and databases that the Publisher shall deem appropriate, in all parts of the world in any medium now or hereafter known, and agree to the following terms set out below.

2. Copyright

(a) Copyright in the Contribution remains the property of the Author.
(b) The Author will not knowingly permit the same, or an indistinguishably different version or any substantial part thereof to be reproduced in any other journal or similar periodic publication (a "Reproduction") unless the requirements of 1 (c) and 1 (d) below have been met.
(c) A Reproduction may be published in any publication (i) produced by the Author as part of his or her professional activities as a lawyer, teacher or academic, or (ii) produced by his or her professional practice, company or institution with which he or she is associated as a partner, director, employee or consultant.
(d) A Reproduction may be published if there is no charge for access to it, it contains a statement acknowledging that it was first published in the Journal and (unless a shorter period has been agreed by the Publisher) a period of six months has elapsed since the date of the publication of the Contribution in the Journal.
(e) For the avoidance of doubt, there shall be no other restriction upon the use by the Author of the Author's copyright material as represented by the Contribution.

3. Compensation

In lieu of any fee or royalty the Author hereby accepts that he or she will receive one copy of the Journal, and a PDF copy of their Contribution. Authors are permitted to print and distribute up to 25 copies of their Contribution from the PDF

4. Publication at the Editor and Publisher's Discretion

The Editor and the Publisher reserve the absolute right to reject material submitted for publication, or to shorten and edit the Contribution if editorially necessary. If the material submitted by the Author is rejected by the Publisher, the Author shall have sole rights to use and exploit the Copyright and otherwise the foregoing shall cease to apply.
